Washington, July 12.—When the Wright brothers have completed their tests for the government, only part of the flight will have been accomplished. The next part is to train officers to maneuver their airplane. Lieutenants Lahm and Foulis are to be the first students of the Wright brothers' aeroplanes and they will begin their studies by making ascensions with Orville Wright and Wilbur Wright, and after they have thoroughly acquired the knowledge by proxy they will attempt to make flights by themselves.

ORVILLE WRIGHT MAKES ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT

Washington, July 12.—Orville Wright, this evening made a successful flight in the Wright aeroplane at Fort Meyer, remaining in the air five and a half minutes, during which time the machine attained the speed of about forty miles an hour and circled the parade grounds half a dozen times, a total distance of about three and a half miles.

Mr. Wright concluded not to prolong the trial because the motor of the machine, which had just been repaired was not working perfectly.

Shortly after 7 o'clock, after 2000 spectators had waited for one and a half hours, the breeze died down sufficiently to permit of a flight. When the signal to start was given the machine shot forward instantly and mounted gracefully in the light breeze. Mr. Wright guided the flyer to the lower end of the large parade ground and circled around toward the starting point gradually rising higher from the ground. A burst of applause greeted him as he passed the starting point and sped away on the second round.

After passing the crowd the sixth time, the aviator descended easily and alighted with no apparent jar, the machine sliding smoothly over the ground until it came to a stop at a point near the shed.

The Wrights intend to make only short flights until the new bearings have become worn down and the propelling motor is working perfectly. Then they will make the official test to meet the conditions prescribed by the government.

SALT LAKE AND STATE NEWS

JAMES W. VAN CLEAVE IS SALT LAKE VISITOR

One of the Principals in Contempt Case Against Labor Leaders.

Salt Lake, July 12.—James W. Van Cleave, president of the Buck Stove & Range company of St. Louis, and former president of the American Manufacturers' association, one of the principals in the famous contempt case against Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and John Mitchell, former head of the United Mine Workers, arrived in Salt Lake City Monday morning and left at night for the Pacific coast, accompanied by Mrs. Van Cleave.

Mr. Van Cleave, it is understood, will supervise the exhibit of American manufactures at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition in Seattle. He refused to discuss the Gompers-Mitchell case further than to state that his company would never retire from the fight against the leaders of organized labor in this country, and that in his opinion the United States supreme court would sustain Justice Gould of Washington, D. C., in his heavy sentence against the labor men for contempt.

"Mr. Gompers publicly showed his contempt for the courts in so flagrant a manner that a reversal is impossible," said Mr. Van Cleave. "He violated the injunction issued against him forbidding the publication of the name of the Buck Stove & Range company in the infamous 'unfair list' in the Federationist. He defied the courts, and he must suffer. I believe that the sentences against Mitchell and Gompers will have a salutary effect on the more radical dictators in the labor movement."

KAYSVILLE NEWS.

Kaysville, July 12.—John I. Guthrie, one of the leading peach growers of Davis county, estimates that there is only about 10 per cent of a crop of Elberta peaches this year, but he says there is a full crop of Amara June peaches. Last spring, when Mr. Guthrie found that the blossoms had been killed, he cut the trees back, so as to grow plenty of new wood for next year.

The 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Lewis is very sick at the hospital, suffering from intestinal troubles.

It is understood that the Oregon Short Line Railroad company is going to put on three gasoline motor cars between Salt Lake and Ogden, to provide a still better passenger service between the two cities and intermediate points.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Haight was quarantined for smaller Saturday, their two oldest boys being sick with the disease.

Miss Hazel E. Barnes entertained at her home in Kaysville on Saturday evening, in honor of Miss Edna Evans, Professor Squire Coop and Mark Brown, all of Salt Lake City. Dainty refreshments were served and the evening was spent in vocal and instrumental selections from the guests of honor.

The grain on the uplands and in the southwestern portion of town is now being harvested and the farmers report an abundant yield.

STRUCK BY CAR.

Salt Lake, July 12.—James J. Jacobson, a bricklayer, residing at Murray, was struck down by a street car on State street, between Ninth and Tenth south streets, Saturday night, and sustained such injuries that rendered his condition precarious for a time. Immediately after the accident he was removed to the L. D. S. hospital, where examination showed that he was suffering from concussion of the brain, a broken nose and a number of other minor injuries. At the hospital this morning, however, it was reported that his condition is satisfactory and he is now out of danger.

Jacobson was on his way home at the time of the accident, and owing to the bad condition of State street, had been walking in the middle of the car track. When he was near Henry's rink Murray car No. 406 approached and Jacobson evidently heard the warning bell for he stepped to one side of the track. He failed to step aside far enough, however, and the corner of the front vestibule caught him, throwing him to the street. The car crew, consisting of Conductor Rodney Proctor and Motorman Joseph Winkler, assert that the man was properly warned of the approach of the car and that the fault of the accident rested upon him.

DURUM BREAD BY FOR STATES IN DRY FARM REGION.

Billings, Mont., July 12.—"Durum Bread Day" is the latest idea of the wheat growers of the dry farming regions of the United States. Already the farmers of the Dakotas and Minnesota have petitioned their respective governors to proclaim this new agricultural day and a movement is on foot in other states of the west to have similar action taken.

In a letter to Secretary Burns of the Dry Farming Congress which will hold its four sessions here next October 26-28, Charles Christodoro of Point Loma, San Diego, Calif., regarded as the leading durum wheat expert of the country, announced the purpose of the proposed "Durum Bread Day":

"With a view of popularizing durum flour, opening up new channels for its use, increasing, consequently, the call for durum wheat and, ultimately, raising the price of durum wheat perhaps to $1 a bushel, the farmers of North and South Dakota and Minnesota, at their recent convention at Fargo, N. D., asked this governor to proclaim a 'Durum Bread Day,' on which the whole country would be asked to join in eating durum bread."

The durum bread idea will be carried into other western states and homesteaders throughout the grain producing sections of the country as well as in the entire western agricultural region will be asked to devote one day in the year to baking bread from flour made from this variety of grain.

Concerning interesting tests with this flour, Mr. Christodoro, who has made durum wheat his specialty, and is regarded as an eminently competent authority on cereals, says:

"Four years ago the United States department of agriculture demonstrated in an exhaustive, careful test the superiority of durum flour as a bread flour over the heretofore accepted Minnesota spring wheat. From knowledge of the comparative flour made from each kind of flour 200 loaves were baked, and the 400 loaves were sent to 200 scientists, bakers, millers, housekeepers and others for comparison. Of those who answered, 74 per cent gave the palm to the durum flour. The department of agriculture summarized the results as follows:

"The durum loaf was better colored and more moist; the general opinion of the durum flour loaf as against the other was in favor of the durum flour loaf."

"A New York paper, devoted to bakery interests, made a similar test last year, having Adolph Schinkler, head of the United States bakers' union, conduct the test. Mr. Schinkler reported that durum flour yielded 16 pounds more dough to the barrel than did the Minnesota spring wheat; the grain of durum was even, close and fine; the durum loaf had a rich, creamy color, which was very pleasing and looked as if milk and malt extract had been used, although neither was used; the durum loaf, on the whole, presented a much better appearance, the rich, brown crust giving an impression of richness and solidity. Sugar need not be added to durum flour, it being so rich in saccharine content, which explains the bloom and good appearance of the loaf. The durum loaf had a very agreeable taste and was fully as satisfactory as the other. It was agreeable to eat and still moist, even after the fourth day. The durum flour barrel, 33 pounds of dough to the barrel, 33 pounds of flour to the Minn. spring wheat flour. As to the Minnesota spring wheat flour loaf, it was white, but could no longer be eaten when the durum loaf was still moist and palatable. It had a better expansion in the oven than the durum loaf."

ANOTHER MORPHINE VICTIM.

Salt Lake City, July 12.—Charles F. Riggs, whose identity the police have not yet been able to learn, died in the emergency hospital early Sunday morning from the effects of an overdose of morphine.

Whether the drug was taken with suicidal intent or that the overdose was a mistake in quantity is not known, as the dead man left nothing to indicate either was he or his motive for self-destruction.

Riggs was in the city, so far as is known, last Wednesday, and secured a room at the Lincoln house. He was found in his room at an early hour Sunday morning under the influence of the drug and was removed by the police to the emergency hospital, where Dr. F. B. Steele worked over him for two hours, without avail. At the hotel nothing was known of the man except that he had occupied a room there several times within the past year, his stays never exceeding

LIGHTNING'S FREAK AT MAGRATH, CANADA

Magrath, Alberta, Canada, July 12.—In a recent thunderstorm the home of Fred Karren was struck by lightning and a most unusual thing happened. A large hole was made in the roof and another in the sliding near the foundation, and not a spark of fire resulted. After going through the roof the bolt rained down a bedroom wall, blowing several shirts and dresses across the room and raining one valuable dress, and the wall paper where it hung, by discoloring them both. Then it went into the pantry, scattering the dishes, then out through the side wall, just over the foundation wall, making a hole that looked like it had been made by a cannon ball.

FATAL ACCIDENTS IN SCOTFIELD COAL MINES

Scottfield, Carbon Co., July 12.—Norman Price, the son of Joseph and Mary Price, died Saturday afternoon from the injuries he received on the 6th in a mine accident while he was working with his father, who was also hurt and bruised, but he is recovering. The boy was cut on the head very badly and his skull fractured. He was born in Scotland, Warwickshire, England, August 13, 1895. He was a faithful worker in the deacon's quorum.

Both father and son were covered nearly by coal, after their shots had been fired, and laid there nearly an hour and a half before anyone knew of the mishap.

This is the second death here this week. At Winter Quarters, on the 5th, a young Austrian was killed by a fall of rock.

The mines are now working every day—they have been very slack.

CHARLES WHEELER MURDERED AT COLTON.

Provo, July 12.—Charles Wheeler, of Payson, a man about 35 years of age, was shot and almost instantly killed at Colton, Saturday afternoon by Charles Stewart, aged 30 years, formerly of Springfield, Stewart took to the hills, but was captured by a posse of Colton citizens, and held for Sheriff Judt, who went up on the first train and brought the prisoner to Provo where he is now held in the county jail.

Both men were sheepherders and had been drinking. A quarrel started on some old disagreement between the men and Stewart shot Wheeler with a .38 caliber revolver, the shot taking effect in the bowels. Stewart claims that the shooting was done in self defense. Bystanders, however, claim that Wheeler did not draw his gun nor make an effort to do so at any time during the quarrel.

RICHFIELD INDIAN WAR VETERANS' ENCAMPMENT

Richfield, Sevier Co., July 12.—The Indian war veterans of this county met here yesterday to prepare plans for the proposed encampment this summer. Another matter discussed was the proposed monument to Col. John Ite. It was decided to erect a stone and marble monument and to solicit subscriptions at once. The following committee was appointed: W. H. Clark, chairman; H. J. Gottfredson, secretary; Oren Lee, John Wilkerson and E. C. Peterson.

Anty Drudge Won't be Fooled.

Grocer—"There's your butter, tea, and baking powder. Now as to soap, I want you to try this instead of Fels-Naptha. It's said to be the best in the market."

Anty Drudge—"Say, Mr. Grocer, that's enough. Unload this basket. I don't know but what you've given me a fraud butter or tea, or a hurtful baking powder. But I do know you are trying to fool me into buying an imitation of Fels-Naptha. It don't go with me. After this I'll go where I can trust the grocer to give me what I ask for."

Fels-Naptha itself does the work of loosening the dirt from the fabric which every other soap leaves you to do with the washboard. With Fels-Naptha there's no backache, no long bending over the wash-tub, as with other soaps. Your clothes will wear twice as long, because boiling or scalding softens the fibre and rots the clothes. And they'll be whiter and cleaner.

But Fels-Naptha must be used according to the simple directions on the red and green wrapper—and in cold or lukewarm water.

BROWNING TALKS ON VITAL QUESTION

Chief of Police Thomas Browning delivered an address at the Eighth ward meeting house Sunday night. He gave a very interesting discourse on the question of how to train the boys and girls of the rising generation. He spoke of the need of giving children money to spend at their own will, and advised the fathers and mothers to not permit their sons and daughters to become infatuated with amusements to the extent that their whole thought and desires become centered in them.

Things had come to such a pass, he said, that a peaceful life is almost a thing of the past, and if the good people are not careful their children will become so wrapped up in the idea of "how to have a good time" that control of them will be lost entirely, which will result in untold remorse and broken hearts and the filling of the jails with criminals.

The chief explained the folly of the parents always hiring the children to do little jobs for them. He said that rather than make hired men and women of them in that way it would be much better to inculcate high ideals and let them learn that what they do for the father or the mother is a matter of duty and that they should find pleasure in doing duty. Do something substantial for them, he said, and keep them from the idea, as much as possible, of making and spending money. Give the young folks from the habit of spending money every day for the frivolous things.

The question of giving children too much latitude in their pastimes and in the exercise of their particular faculties was handled very nicely. The chief enforced the idea that boys and girls in their teens should be safeguarded against the many influences for evil that they come in contact with if they are permitted to go at will and exercise their own volitions in the selection of their companions and the kind of pleasures indulged in.

He urged the imperative necessity of keeping the children at home nights and not allowing them to sleep away from their homes except they be under the guidance of grown people who would see to it that the children would not come in contact with the bad influences that prevail so largely in the country.

The talk was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience, and the listeners were impressed with new and splendid ideas regarding the training of their children.

The per capita consumption of tobacco is lower in Italy than in any other European country, being a trifle more than a pound.

COMMISSIONERS FIX TAX LEVY

The Weber county tax levy, general and special, was fixed by the county commissioners at a lengthy session held yesterday. A levy of 8 mills for regular county taxes was imposed, as follows: General county purposes, 5 mills; maintenance and care of indigent poor, 1 mill; interest on bonds, 3-10 mill; county school tax, 1-10 mill.

A levy of 7 mills was imposed for the Weber county school district tax, as follows: Maintenance of schools, 5-10 mills; interest on bonds, 1-10 mill; for school sites and buildings, 1-10 mill; for sinking fund, 0-7 of a mill. This levy is the same as that imposed last year for the same purpose.

A 9-mill levy was fixed by the board for the Ogden City school tax, as follows: Maintenance, 6-10 mills; interest on bonds, 7-10 mill; school sites and buildings, 1-10 mill; sinking fund, 3-10 mill. This levy is a half mill increase from that of last year.

In addition to the regular school tax levy, the board fixed a 4-mill tax on all sheep and goats in the county. This tax will go to the bounty fund. Last year the levy was 3 mills. A 2-mill levy on all horses and cattle in Weber county, except in incorporated towns, as provided for by the recent act of the legislature, was also levied by the board.

The total tax levy for Weber county will be 23 mills, provided the state and city levies remain the same as they were last year. The total value of assessable property in the city is $11,991,068, and in the county districts, $5,120,366. This tax levy will realize $117,707.938 revenue from the county districts and $119,687.38 from Ogden City.

Before fixing the tax levy the commissioners canvassed the returns from the special road election held at Slatteryville, Harrisville and North Ogden July 6. In Slatteryville 39 votes were recorded in favor of levying a special tax of 5 mills for road purposes, and 31 votes against the proposition. In Harrisville 24 votes were cast in favor of a similar levy, and 10 against it.

In North Ogden, where the vote was on a special road levy of three mills, 9 votes were cast for the levy and 7 against it.
